A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

On September 19th, Western State welcomed several hundred guests to the Balboa Bay Resort for the school's Annual Hall of Fame Gala. At the Gala we inducted three individuals into our Hall of Fame who not only achieved --- but who personified the identity and character of those in the Western State community. Judge Becky Dugan, Brian McCormack, and Kimberly Valentine all embodied the humanitarianism and professional skill of great careers. We also recognized the Honorable Francisco Firmat with a Lifetime Achievement Award for his successful efforts to open the courts to the poor and the non-English speaking. Finally, we presented students who had won some of Western State's major scholarships, including the Shapiro and Bentley Scholarships, and gave them the dais to present their wholly fascinating life stories.

The Gala showcased the alumni community's generosity and highlighted the critical bond between donors and tomorrow's legal professionals. The celebration was entirely appropriate to the run-up to the College of Law's relocation to our new campus near the Spectrum at Irvine.

This is an epochal moment in the life of our institution. After months of preparation, and years of planning, we are beginning the process of relocating to a new campus. It is a process not without ennui. Western State has for decades been an anchor institution of the academic consortium in Fullerton. The building at 1111 North State College was where so many in the California legal community found their calling and launched satisfying – often spectacular – careers.

If you attended our recent farewell to our Fullerton venue, you know that in so many ways the institution is less about real estate than it is about people. At our new campus we will be ushering in a new era of achievement. We are grateful for the continued support of our alumni and the kind graces of the professional community.

Allen K. Easley
Dean & Vice Chancellor

Farewell to Fullerton CARNIVAL

Saturday, November 21, 2015, marked the last time Western State students, alumni, faculty and staff would come together at the Fullerton campus for an event. The “Farewell to Fullerton” Carnival Party provided a shared moment to reminisce about Western State’s past and celebrate Western State’s future in Irvine.

Everyone enjoyed the carnival games, and the splashes and screams from the dunk tank could be heard throughout the day. Students even stepped onto the sumo mat for some friendly competition. Hamburgers, hot dogs and nachos accompanied traditional carnival food of cotton candy, popcorn and snow cones. A raffle closed out the night.

Special thanks to those who made this happen: Donna Espinoza (Senior Assistant Dean of Student Affairs), Jon Evans (Director of Facilities), Jim Cheydleur (Senior Assistant Dean of Institutional Advancement), Pam Davidson (Assistant Dean of Career Resources), Tim Mallory (Director of Alumni Relations), RJ Espinoza (Marketing Coordinator), Emma Hurtado (Coordinator), Stacy Hang (AP & Facilities Supervisor), Julie Kohler (Assistant Director of Student Finance), Brenda Ishmael (Assistant Director of Student Finance), Tim Hoang (Admission Data Manager), Tracie Porter, Heath Durbin (Class of 2015, The Student Body Association and Student Organizations).

HALL OF FAME Gala

The Balboa Bay Resort was once again the venue for Western State’s seminal alumni event – The Hall of Fame Gala. Nearly three hundred guests gathered at the scenic local on the water in Newport Beach to pay homage to four individuals: Judge Becky Dugan, Retired Judge Francisco Firmat, Brian McCormack, and Kimberly Valentine. Each achieved success in outsized and often unconventional dimensions: Judge Dugan as an authority on juvenile law and the longest sitting bench member in Riverside County; Judge Firmat, as one of the State’s most venerated judges; Brian

One of the go to events in the Orange County legal community. - Bill Shapiro

McCormack, as a skilled practitioner of high-wire, high-stakes litigation; and Kim Valentine who has developed the art of using the litigator’s tools on behalf of the elderly toward results of genuine justice.

Also on the program were students whose academic careers were enhanced and in some cases made possible by the generosity of Alums lie William Shapiro and Greg Bentley, themselves Hall of Fame inductees. In an evening of overdue accolades and past due reconnections, the most important message was the importance of supporting students.

THIRD ANNUAL BAY AREA MIXER

Western State reached out 500 miles on a crisp Autumn night on November 12th to the alumni of the Bay Area. This was the third time that the school had situated a reception at the Waterfront Restaurant a glass-walled, open beamed, on the water at Pier 7 at the base of the Bay Bridge.

Among the guests were Janely Mendoza (Class of 2015) who, one week later would receive her successful bar results; Gabrielle Selden (1996) of the Judicial Counsel; construction attorney Craig Niven (Class of 1987); IP attorney Owen Bates (Class of 1994), and Law Review EIC Kevin Nguyen (Class of 2015). Afterwards Dean Easley marveled at the warmth and instant bon homme of the Bay Area alums.

LAS VEGAS MIXER

Western State alumni, faculty and staff gathered to celebrate and reconnect at our 1st annual Las Vegas Area Alumni Mixer. The perfect venue, located on the strip across from the Wynn Hotel, Maggiano's Restaurant provided the true feel of old world Italy in the midst of a pervasive "Vegas-baby" party atmosphere. The mixer coincided with the annual Consumer Attorneys of Los Angeles Vegas Conference, which synergy brought together Western State alumni of widely diverse graduation classes from So. Cal. and the greater Nevada region. Notable alumni in attendance included: Jim Randall (Class of 1980), Bill Shapiro (Class of 1978), Alan Davis (Class of 1978) and Christopher Montes de Oca (Class of 2006).

Next year's event promises to be even more not-to-be-missed, bigger and better, and once again coinciding with the CAALA Vegas Conference. Be on the lookout for the announcement of next year's date, time, and location; mark your calendar and plan to begin celebrating our 50th anniversary with your Western State friends, colleagues and classmates – Vegas style!

The image features a complex, abstract composition of overlapping geometric shapes in various shades of blue and purple. A large, light blue circle is prominent in the upper left, containing a white semi-circle at the top and a white horizontal bar across its middle. The text 'Professionalism', 'ethics', and 'civility' is overlaid on this circle in white, bold, sans-serif font. To the right, a tall, vertical purple shape is partially visible. In the lower right, a large, dark blue circle overlaps with a light blue circle, both containing white shapes. The overall design is modern and layered, with a focus on the text 'Professionalism ethics civility'.

CIVILITY MATTERS PRESENTATION

Professionalism, Ethics and Civility

Members of the American Board of Trial Advocates, considered to be the elite of America's trial lawyers, spoke to Western State College of Law students on November 17. John P. Blumberg, Class of 1976, and Douglas M. DeGrave addressed the 1Ls from the Legal Writing and Research classes of Professors Eunice Park, Lori Roberts and Monica Todd on the topic, "Civility Matters." The presentation addressed ABOTA's commitment to elevating the standards of integrity, honor, and courtesy in the legal profession and the crisis of embattled civility in the courts.

Mr. Blumberg, who sits on ABOTA's National Board of Directors, the National Board of Governors of the American Board of Professional Liability Attorneys, and the Board of Governors of the Consumer Attorneys Association of Los Angeles, has tried over 100 cases to decision or verdict. He holds specialty board certifications recognized by the California State Bar as a civil trial lawyer, as a legal malpractice specialist, and as a medical malpractice specialist. Mr. Blumberg's office is located in Long Beach.

Mr. DeGrave also sits on ABOTA's National Board of Directors and served as President of CAL-ABOTA in 2013.

One of approximately 100 lawyers certified as a civil trial specialist in California, Mr. DeGrave has tried more than 80 cases to verdict or judgment, specializing in civil litigation. Mr. DeGrave is a founding partner of Poliquin & DeGrave LLP in Laguna Hills, serves as an arbitrator and mediator, and is a former adjunct professor at Western State College of Law.

Civility Matters was created to promote the first specific purpose in ABOTA's constitution: "To elevate the standards of integrity, honor and courtesy in the legal profession." The program features first-hand lessons learned by and experiences of ABOTA members who have successfully implemented these programs in the past and offered their wisdom during its development. Civility Matters was designed to be presented at all ABOTA educational activities, other bar and professional programs, and, especially, in every law school in the country.

(He just obtained a reversal of a decision by Governor Brown to take away his client's parole date.) Bartz was a police officer before coming to Western State and he credits his expertise in police procedures with his success in challenging searches and suppressing evidence. He estimates that – including his 37 years as a sole practitioner - he has worked in the criminal justice system for 47 years.

He plans on practicing law for at least another 3 years. "I have been certified as a personal trainer and group fitness instructor. I am 67 years old and besides the law, working in the fitness industry has become my passion."

"I want to let my fellow alumni know that there are other options available to them when they decide they want to quit practicing law. I have really enjoyed the last 37 years in my practice and I can honestly say that every morning I wake up I look forward to going to work. However, it is difficult to serve two masters so in three years I will reluctantly leave the law and pursue my next career." He notes that when he graduated from Western State, the oldest of his four children was 2 years old; Matthew Bartz is now a criminal defense lawyer in Phoenix.

United States, the federal litigation pending in the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in which 26 states have challenged President Obama's creation of Deferred Action for Parental Accountability (DAPA). She was joined by Prof. Annie Lai, Co-Director of the Immigrant Rights Clinic at UC Irvine School of Law.

Associate Dean of Students Charles Sheppard accepted the award on behalf of Western State. President Meanes recognized Professor Tracie Porter for her role and outstanding service as National Chairperson of the National Bar Association’s 2014-2015 Symposiums and the exemplary manner in which the West Coast segment of the 25th Annual Wiley A. Branton Issues Symposiums was hosted at Western State last October. The award was presented to Western State after the conclusion of a dynamic panel discussion Professor Porter co-moderated with Dean Everett Bellamy, Adjunct Professor of Law of Georgetown University Law Center, Washington D.C.

Professor Tracie R. Porter’s law review article, “The School to Prison Pipeline: The Business of Imprisoning Not Educating Students in Public Schools,” 66 Ark. L. In the article, “So you want to be a leader in your industry?”, in which four lawyers with different legal backgrounds were interviewed about their experiences in becoming experts in their fields, Professor Sobel spoke about the importance of networking and volunteering for legal organizations as a young public interest attorney.

Professor Sobel also has been quoted in a recent article regarding transgender employees in the workplace. In “Transgender Employees Seeking Greater Workplace Protections,” at Mainstreet.com, she discussed how employers can assist workers who are transitioning on the job by having inclusive workplace non-discrimination policies and a human resources department that is prepared to work with their employees, and urged employers to educate themselves on the law where they are based and conduct business.
